SC asks RBI to examine if EMI moratorium is indeed being passed on

FE BUREAU New Delhi, April 30 THE SUPREME COURT on Thursday asked the RBI to examine whether benefits of its policy decision on three-month moratorium on fixed-term loans and EMIs are being passed on to the borrowers. A Bench led by justice NV Ramana said "it appears that whatever benefits are being given by the RBI, they are not being extended to the borrowers. There should be proper guidelines. The RBI may examine it to see the circular issued on March 27 is being implemented effectively. This is not a PIL issue. However, due to the various issues raised, we request that the RBI may examine whether its policy is being implemented in true letter and spirit".

ing hearing of petitions challenging a part of the March circular with regard to recovery of interest accrued on the outstanding portion of the term loans during the moratorium period between March 1 and May 31 amid coronavirus. Seeking directions to all banks and financial institutions not to charge interest from their customers during the moratorium period, the petitioners alleged that the RBI's circular was eyewash as the accumulated accrued interest on the outstanding amount shall be recovered immediately after the moratorium period. "The State cannot enrich itself nor permit anyone to enrich from the unfortunate situation by charging interest for moratorium period," a petitioner contended. The PILs had stated that the Centre and the RBI were "duty bound to support citizens" by extending moratorium as Covid has hit every segment of society and its consequences would be far more serious even after lifting of the lockdown.
